TODAY'S JAZZY ARTISTS: PETE YELLIN'S 4+1
TODAY'S JAZZY THEME: GIVING THANKS!

Alto saxophonist and educator, Pete Yellin is a native New Yorker who has toured and recorded with many of the seminal names in jazz, among them Joe Henderson, Tito Puente, Lionel Hampton, Eddie Palmieri, Machito, Mario Bausa and Maynard Ferguson. He also leads his own groups, releasing three CD's in the last three years.

While attending Denver University on a basketball scholarship, Pete was so impressed with the music of the great altoist Art Pepper that he borrowed an alto saxophone from the University's music department; and his life changed!

He first became interested in Jazz education—as a way to create opportunities for students and players alike—in the 70's. He got a Master's degree in Saxophone at Brooklyn College; and the L I Jazz Program was soon to follow.

Pete Yellin founded the Jazz program at Long Island University—New York's first serious full-time degree program in Jazz—in 1984; and continues to be involved in its leadership as Coordinator of Jazz Studies.
